Plea of Guilty by New Jersey Corporation But the Texas Concerns Have a Clean Record.

TRUST HOLDINGS TO BE ALIENATED

Stock Owned by Archbold and Folger to Go Into Hands of Trustee—Colquitt Wants to Retire Bonds With the Money—Crude Oil Advances.

CRUDE OIL GOES UP.

Independence, Kans., July 21.—Another advance of five cents a barrel in the price of crude oil was announced here today by the Prairie Oil and Gas company, making the new price 98 cents for all grades in the mid-continent field. A similar advance was made two weeks ago.

Austin, July 21.—The announcement that Texas had won a $500,000 victory in the Standard Oil penalty suit was delivered to the legislature today in the form of a special message from Governor Colquitt. The message was read in both houses.

The message first recommended the retirement of $500,000 in bonds issued at the third called session of the Thirty-First legislature, $174,000 of which amount comprises the bonds owned by the Agricultural and Mechanical college on its permanent endowment. This announcement was followed by one with reference to the Standard Oil suit and a recommendation that immediate disposition be made of it rather than let it go into the treasury, a process that has its objections.

The message was complimentary to Attorney General Looney, Colonel Louis J. Wortham then introduced a bill which would carry out the plans of the governor. Llewelling of Dallas objected to the bill. The matter had to go to over because of the lone objection. Hudspeth in the senate has introduced a similar bill and it will get immediate consideration.

Sends Money by Wire.

Greenville, July 21.—The Standard Oil company of New Jersey today sent $500,000 into Texas by wire, paying the entire half million as a penalty for violation of the Texas anti-trust laws. The settlement was a compromise with the state. It wiped the records clean of the big $102,161,000 penalty and easier suit which the state filed recently against four oil companies, five New York banks and twenty-eight individuals, including several of the country's leading oil men.

The Standard Oil company of New Jersey this afternoon pleaded guilty to violating the anti-trust laws of Texas in the Eighth Judicial District court, the verdict being entered by L. W. Briscoe, district clerk.

The defendant paid penalties of $500,000 plus all costs to the attorney general's department for its infractions. The money was wired from the Standard oil company office direct to the state through an Austin bank.

State Wins Contention.

The state won its contention that the Standard Oil company was operating in Texas through other companies, who were made parties to the suit filed in this city, March 5. The penalties imposed for the suit were over $100,000, which was merely an incident, the point in question being whether or not the Standard Oil company was operating in Texas. Attorney General Looney charged violation of laws and has established beyond doubt that he was correct.

Other defendants, the Magnolia Oil company and the Corsicana Petroleum company's numerous banks and individuals were given judgment of not guilty, but the stock of John D. Archbold and H. C. Folger in the Magnolia and Corsicana companies is transferred to a trustee, Judge F. A. Williams of Austin.

The trusteeship guarantees complete and independent business on part of the Magnolia and Corsicana Petroleum companies in the oil business of the state. The state believes it was through Folger and Archbold that the Standard Oil company was operating in Texas and the severance of their connection or control of these companies secures to the state the supremacy of the law and the elimination of the element complained of. Archbold and Folger controlled 99 per cent of the stock of the two companies mentioned until final entry of the judgment today. Judge Williams, trustee, will have authority of ownership and the Magnolia and Corsicana companies will remain free from the Standard so long as he remains the trustee.

Meeting of Attorneys.

Settlement of this important case was brought about by a meeting at the Beckman hotel parlor this afternoon, attended by Henry C. Coke, counsel for the Standard Oil company; George C. Greer, general attorney for Magnolia and Corsicana Petroleum companies; W. C. Proctor, manager Magnolia Oil company; Attorney General B. F. Looney and Assistant Attorney General Clyde Sweeton and the following local attorneys, assisting both sides: L. L. Bowman, district attorney; W. W. Pierson, district judge; T. W. Thompson, Hunt county attorney; J. H. Dimmose, B. M. McMahen, R. L. Porter, B. F. Crosby, J. S. Sherrill, T. D. Starnes, C. A. Ledy and S. B. Brooks, receiver for the Magnolia and Corsicana Petroleum companies.

After the conference they retired to the court house, where the order was

IT IS NOT TRUE SAY SENATORS

REPUTATE TESTIMONY OF MULHALL AND CLAIMS HE HAS MADE.

NELSON AND CLAPP TESTIFY

Many Letters Are Read Into the Record, Showing Influence of Manufacturers' Association.

Washington, July 21.—Two senators, Nelson and Clapp of Minnesota, tonight took the stand before the committee of their colleagues investigating the "lobby" and denied the truth of statements made by Martin M. Mulhall, former political worker, accelerator of congressional opinion and all-around field worker for the National Association of Manufacturers.

In letters read into the record today Mulhall told of conversations with Senator Nelson, a member of the lobby investigating committee, in relation to the rejection early in 1909 of a bill amending the Sherman anti-trust law by a Senate subcommittee, of which Mr. Nelson was chairman. Mulhall wrote to F. C. Schwedtman, secretary to James W. Van Cleave, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, that he had seen Senator Nelson and that the senator told him what transpired in his subcommittee.

He swore on direct examination by Senator Cummins that Mr. Nelson had received the information and a copy of the subcommittee's adverse report on the bill to the president (Mr. Roosevelt). In one letter Mulhall spoke of being introduced to Senator Clapp by Mr. Nelson and of talking with both men about a recent decision on the Sherman act.

Questioned closely by Senator Cummins, Mulhall first swore he had been told by Mr. Nelson what had occurred in the committee, even to how its members voted on the proposed amendment; pursued further, he agreed that possibly he had not received such information and then switched again and declared that if he had reported that he had received such information it must have been correct.

Did Not See Mulhall.
 "I have no recollection of seeing Mr. Mulhall or talking to him about this bill and I certainly would not have talked to him about what transpired before the judiciary committee," said Senator Nelson tonight. "It is possible that he may have stepped inside my office and gotten them from my clerk. Mr. Hicks, my clerk, who was with me then and he is with me now, says that he cannot recall ever having seen Mulhall in our room. So far as the report is concerned, we all know that Mr. Mulhall could get these reports from the document room, I have no recollection of ever meeting Mr. Mulhall or talking to him on these subjects or anything else."

Clapp Makes a Denial.

"I have not the slightest recollection of ever seeing Mr. Mulhall and certainly have no recollection that Senator Nelson introduced me to him in this room," swore Senator Clapp. "It is very clear in my mind that if I had I would have recollected it."

The Nelson matter came up when Senator Reed introduced a letter dated January 29, 1909, from Mulhall to Schwedtman. "I sent in my card to Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota, who made the adverse report, as chairman, to the senate upon the amendment of the Sherman law," read the letter. "The senator came out and took me to his room and gave me a complete statement of what took place in the judiciary committee before they made their adverse report."

Senator Nelson was not in the room at the time and Senator Cummins declared that he had been requested to ask that all letters bringing in Mr. Nelson's name be read at once.

Bont by Chief Lobbyist.

Two letters were put in the record, one referring to the same bill, the other to an anti-injunction bill, which did not figure in the later testimony.

Upon examination, Mulhall said he became acquainted with Senator Nelson at the time he wrote the first letter. "I was sent there by Mr. Emery, the chief lobbyist for the association," he said.

"Senator Nelson's report on this bill was made three days before you called; you do not mean to say that you influenced him?" asked Senator Cummins.

"No, sir, not at all."

Senator Cummins pressed the witness as to the statement that Senator Nelson had given him information about what occurred before the bill was reported adversely. Mulhall was certain that he had got such information, then was "not clear on that."

Examination of his injured right thumb under the X-ray today showed there is a crack in the end of the big bone and indications that a piece of the bone has been chipped off. Unusual care is being taken in the treatment of the injury to guard against stiffness in the joints, which would put an end to Wood's usefulness as a pitcher.

SUGAR INDUSTRY PROBLEM

Is Presented in a Full Discussion of the Penitentiary—Must Provide for Senatorial Elections.

Austin, Tex., July 21.—The legislature convened shortly after 10 o'clock in both branches this morning in pursuance to the governor's proclamation. A roll call disclosed the presence of 110 members of the house and a quorum in the senate, and after the usual opening prayers the work of organization began.

In the house a committee consisting of Williams of Hopkins, Thompson and Kirby was appointed to notify the governor that the house was ready for the work, while Representatives Neill, Heile and Woods of Navarro carried a similar message to the senate.

S. W. D. Low of Brenham, succeeding Congressman J. P. Buchanan, and L. C. Penny, succeeding the late J. C. Hunt, were sworn in as new members.

Later the governor's message came in and was read.

The senate was in session only a few moments and then recessed until 3 o'clock. In the meantime, the members are caucusing on employees.

Ed H. Carter was elected president pro tem of the senate and James Harvey, the new senator from Seguin, was sworn in.

Initiative and Referendum.

The house adopted a resolution asking that the clerk of the senate correct the endorsement made on the joint resolution adopted at the regular session submitting the initiative and referendum. It appears that the resolution was adopted by a vote of 88 to 29, while the endorsement shows that it was adopted by a vote of 84 to 36, less than two-thirds vote, and therefore less than enough to submit the resolution to the people.

The house adopted a resolution asking that the clerk of the senate correct the endorsement made on the joint resolution adopted at the regular session submitting the initiative and referendum. It appears that the resolution was adopted by a vote of 88 to 29, while the endorsement shows that it was adopted by a vote of 84 to 36, less than two-thirds vote, and therefore less than enough to submit the resolution to the people.

When the matter came up, A. M. Kennedy explained that there is doubt whether the resolution can be submitted as it now stands. Lane of Tarrant and others asked whether the attorney general would agree that the change is permissible, since the regular session is ended and a new session is begun. The answer came back that an effort could be made as the people are tired of being thwarted by technicalities and accidents.

An effort to send the resolution to a committee on rules failed and it was adopted. Action is now up to the senate. The matter may finally go to the attorney general and there is a possibility that the submission of the initiative and referendum is being considered.

Appropriations Asked For.

The heads of all departments and superintendents of all State institutions were requested for a statement of their needs for the two fiscal years beginning September 1, 1913, and ending August 31, 1915. These estimates have been formulated into a tentative bill, the sum of the educational institutions, eleemosynary institutions, judiciary and executive departments being formulated into separate bills. The total requisitions show a demand for the following sums of money:

For the Year Ending Aug. 31, 1914. Aug. 31, 1915.
Educational institutions	$2,206,800	$1,529,950
Eleemosynary institutions	1,607,645	1,437,595
Judicial department	967,063	965,863
Executive departments	1,221,020	1,260,222
Grand totals	$6,102,528	$5,193,640

Four bills were introduced in the house this morning. One by Kirby and one by Kennedy to provide means for the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people.

Two by Wortham to appropriate bills. One is for the judicial system and carries $1,019,000, the first year, and $1,017,000 the second. The other is for the maintenance of the state departments and carries $1,226,000 the first year and $1,172,000 the second.

McNealus to Fight Pen Plan.

The house finally recessed until 2 o'clock. Speaker Chester Terrell announced that the judicial appropriation bill was ready and urged that it be considered by the members at once.

Electric fans are being installed in the legislative halls to make them as comfortable as possible. Members all realize that the heat for the summer season will be quite an obstacle and everything is being done to make the work as pleasant as possible.

It would appear that many of the members believe that they will be here at least sixty days, and are so planning their work in the very outset.

The biggest fight will come over penitentiary matters. Opposition to the plan to create a business manager is being heard. Senator McNealus of Dallas will introduce a resolution to call a constitutional convention.

The house this afternoon passed one section of the appropriation bill—the judiciary—without any change, although several attempts had been made to amend. The judiciary bill carries $1,019,000 for the first and $1,017,000 for the second year.

Governor Colquitt suggested that the $500,000 penalty from the Standard Oil company should not be used in the payment of the current expenses of the state, but in retiring $500,000 of 3 per cent bonds of the issue of 1910 so that amount may be reinvested for the benefit of the public school fund, the university and A. and M. college funds, in bonds bearing not less than 5 per cent interest.

Such a bill was introduced by Wortham, but Llewelling blocked its movement, standing out alone against the house.

It is said the governor will submit the blue sky law to the legislature tomorrow.

A fight after adjournment in the senate resulted after considerable debate, in reducing the force of senate employees seven less than the regular session. Homer Lowery of Bridgeport was selected assistant journal clerk of the senate.

Skirts Catch Fire On a Motorcycle and Woman Burns

St. Louis, Mo., July 21.—After seeing two girls escape incineration on the same machine, Mrs. Minnie Daum mounted the motorcycle of Julius Schneider of Edwardsville, Ill., and was probably fatally burned today when her skirt took fire from the cycle's engine.

Excited by the third accident of its kind within an hour, Schneider lost control of the machine, which sped through the main streets of the city, the woman in flames on the rear seat shrieking in terror. At the bottom of a hill Schneider turned the machine against a terrace and attempted in vain to put out the flames.

C. W. Fiegebaum, chief of the fire department, came to the woman's rescue with a chemical tank. Her recovery is doubtful. The skirts of the two who preceded Mrs. Daum took fire but the blaze was speedily extinguished each time.

TARIFF BILL IS BOMBARDED

REPUBLICAN SENATORS SCORE COMMITTEE MEASURE—HINT AT DARK METHODS.

SMOOT IS VERY PESSIMISTIC

Governor Foss Said to Have Purchased Site in Canada for His Manufactures.

Washington, July 21.—Republican senators continued to bombard the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill today. Senator Burton of Ohio expressed the assurance that it would fail in its purpose to lower the cost of living and Senator Smoot of Utah, in an address to be continued, branded it as "the most injurious tariff measure ever taken up for consideration by Congress."

"This bill," said Senator Smoot, "is a partisan and sectional measure, the outcome of secret caucus methods such as never ruled before in the senate of the United States. In his book, 'Our New Freedom,' President Wilson says there is no excuse for caucusing in congress, and in a speech in Indiana preceding his election, he emphasized that point by asserting that there was no necessity for secrecy in congressional proceedings. Yet not in the history of congress has there been anything equal to that record in the way of dark methods in the preparation of a tariff bill."

Governor Foss of Massachusetts, who has been three times elected to his present office by the Democratic party and who was supported as a candidate for president at the last Democratic national convention, denounces this bill as a sacrifice of the interests of the nation. He has purchased a site in Canada for his large manufacturing establishment in Massachusetts and says that he will remove his business there if it will become a law. Wm. H. Hearst, a prominent Democrat, mentioned as a candidate for president, agreed with Governor Foss. We all know that democrats of Louisiana, Colorado, Montana and other states, vitally interested, think of this measure.

"A former democratic United States senator from Colorado has denounced it in vigorous terms. How could he do otherwise when it sacrifices practically every important industry in that state, as well as other states except possibly one or two in the south?"

Manufacturing is developing all over the south, crops are more diversified and there is every reason to believe that if left alone under the protective tariff its prosperity will continue to increase with great strides. But this bill will hurt, instead of helping the south, as its originators seem to think will be the case."

Analyzing the bill from end to end, Senator Smoot declared that "of the many monstrous provisions of this tariff law, perhaps the worst is the one designed to annihilate the production of sugar in this country."

Glad to Be American.

"I have been so proud of my country's development of her people that I never get tired of singing her praises, nor never cease thanking my God that I was born an American. I am interested in maintaining her present standard of living and preventing, if possible, her working people from coming in direct competition with the unfortunate working people of less favored countries. There is only one way to prevent it and that is by a protective tariff, and therefore I have been and still am a protectionist without qualification."

Asserting that a foreign "lobby" had influenced democrats in framing the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill, Senator Smoot, republican member of the finance committee, today attacked the measure. He painted a picture of mills shut down, workmen unemployed, investors ruined and an era of general depression as the result of the leveling of the tariff walls. European countries, he declared, were not so much to be feared as competitors as those of the Orient.

"There has been a lobby here in behalf of foreign manufacturers," he charged, "such as was never before witnessed in the nation's history, and they have got even more than they asked for. The Italian chamber of commerce of New York requested certain reductions and the democrats in nearly every case have given more than they asked."

The senator assailed the increase in the free list, especially with reference to sugar, wool, pig iron and textiles. He charged that the sugar industry of Hawaii and Porto Rico would be ruined with consequent benefits to the so-called sugar "trust" and that China, with its great steel plants, would capture the steel business of the western hemisphere.

Referring to the Walker tariff bill of 1890, on which he contended the bill was largely modeled, Mr. Smoot said the Walker bill provided for the admission free of only about 2 per cent of the imports, while the Underwood-Simmons measure allows 55 per cent of the great increased volume of incoming trade to enter untaxed. Under the Walker law, he added, the average rate of all imports was 22.14, which, under the proposed new law, the rate would be merely a trifle over 18 per cent."

Senator Smoot charged the democrats with inconsistency in the framing of the measure. Calling attention to the fact that wheat, flour and corn meal, potatoes and virtually every form of meat go on the free list, certain food products peculiar to the south remain under a tariff tax.

The senator then launched into a detailed comparison of the cost of production and the wages paid in the United States and abroad and asserted the removal of duties was an open invitation to foreigners to use the United States as a "dumping ground" for their surplus products.

Denunciation of free trade as a timely policy for the United States, prediction of failure in its purpose for the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill and an attack on an ad valorem tariff system, were voiced by Senator Burton of Ohio today when tariff discussion was resumed in the Senate.

Senator Burton declared he was no worshiper of protectionism as "fatish," but that he approached the subject of the tariff "rather with the conviction that whenever there shall be an era of comity and mutual concession in trade among nations and this country shall have reached a point when its productive capacity has been fully developed, free trade might be a rational policy."

Such, he said, was not the case.

REV. J. M. ROBERTSON, D. D.

He Was Rejected—Remarkable Bit of Personal Experience by Noted Texas Divine.

An unusual experience is related by the Rev. J. M. Robertson, D. D., of San Leon, Texas. For many years Rev. Robertson resided at Dallas and his ministerial work there made him known throughout the state as a leader in religious affairs.

Three old line insurance companies rejected his application for insurance, for the reason that, as he explains: "My father and two of my uncles died of cancer. My application for insurance was made before I was 25 years old and were refused on account of this family record. Four years ago a spot appeared on one of my cheeks that gave me trouble and anxiety. My family physician would not say it was a cancer threat, but advised me not to touch with cancer doctors, but to keep the spot well greased. In this way I held it back until four months ago, when I lost control of it and was kept awake at night by the burning sensation, while the rose colored spot continued to grow. I took a small jar of Vitalitas and used less than half of it in applications. It completely dissipated the growth and not a trace of it has appeared for a month."

The medical world is now working as never before to find a cancer cure. It is not known yet that Vitalitas is such, yet there are cases on record in which cancerous growths have been driven away, completely and permanently.

Without doubt, Vitalitas is the greatest curative force of the age. It comes out of the earth and it puts new vital force into every weakened and diseased spot. Liquid Vitalitas overcomes and drives away all disarrangements of stomach, liver, kidneys and blood. No matter of how long standing, it is effective. It is guaranteed. Sample it today and see the display at the Powers-Kelly Drug Co. (Advertisement) nations and to grant access to magicians only on rendering concession in return for the increase."

Continuing, he said: "The attempt on the part of a free trade nation to apply the theory in practice without the concert of other nations reveals the serious disadvantage of such a position. Even if theoretically in the most correct situation, she is in far the worse position to enforce her point of view. She can have recourse to no other means of protecting her interests except to persuade the statesmen of other countries that that they, together with herself, would be better off under a regime of freedom in commerce; while they, on the other hand, can bargain between themselves to her disadvantage and at the same time profit by access to her open markets."

Senator Burton further declared that the democrats had framed a bill which literally tears to pieces the fiscal policy of the nation, in order to satisfy the craving for lowering the cost of living and to justify the declaration of their party platform that the chief cause of the high cost of living was "the existing protective tariff enacted by the republican party."

"This," said Senator Burton, "was your campaign argument; this was the promise on which you regarded yourselves as delegates to piece the policy which has been the sheet anchor of nearly two decades of unprecedented prosperity and which is the only guarantee of its continuance."

"You have erected a tariff policy blind to every consideration except the consumer. The bill was not frankly framed to encourage capital to enter new fields of industry or to extend those already established. When it was not devised for the purpose of inviting our farmers to reclaim new acres for cultivation, it is certainly not calculated to enlarge the opportunities for labor to find profitable employment. Its sole justification is a reduced cost of living; if it fails in this it fails utterly."

Its sole justification is a reduced cost of living; if it fails in this it fails utterly."

The belief of many persons that protective tariff is responsible for high cost of living is a delusion, said the senator.

Denouncing the ad valorem system adopted in the bill for special duties, Senator Burton declared that it was objectionable because it means a heavier burden upon the consumer during the periods when prices are the highest and a smaller burden when prices are low; that it affords temptation for undervaluation and fraud and that it works to the disadvantage of the American manufacturer who must buy raw material abroad.

"There has been a lobby here in behalf of foreign manufacturers," he charged, "such as was never before witnessed in the nation's history, and they have got even more than they asked for. CARDENIO KING DIES A CONVICT

FAMOUS FINANCIER AND PUBLISHER PASSES ON EVE OF HIS FREEDOM.

Bridgewater, Mass., July 21.—A spectacular career was ended under pathetic circumstances today when Cardenio F. O. King, once widely known as a financier and newspaper publisher of Boston, died a convict at the state farm here in the very hour that friends, aware of the approach of death, were making desperate efforts to obtain his pardon.

Only a legal technicality prevented his last hours being those of a free man. Word that his condition was hopeless was sent to Governor Foss at Boston this morning and soon afterwards Mrs. King and their four sons who were at the bedside received the welcome message that the governor had canvassed the members of his council by telephone and seven of the eight had consented to immediate clemency.

King brightened perceptibly at the news. He was told of the word received shortly after that Attorney General Swift had rendered an opinion that a pardon could not be granted by telephone. Later, however, a telegram brought assurance that a pardon would be granted tomorrow when the council had been ordered to convene.

King brightened perceptibly at the news. He was told of the word received shortly after that Attorney General Swift had rendered an opinion that a pardon could not be granted by telephone. Later, however, a telegram brought assurance that a pardon would be granted tomorrow when the council had been ordered to convene.

Dr. Emerson, medical head of the state farm, arrived with the news to the hospital, but returned to announce that King was dead.

King was convicted of obtaining $22,000 under false pretenses from persons who had intrusted him with funds for investment and was sentenced from ten to fourteen years. In January, 1909, he began his term at Charlestown, but became seriously ill and was removed here. A chronic intestinal trouble pursued him and last night his condition became critical.

A native of North Carolina, King began his financial operations in Boston in 1904. In 1907 he began publishing the Boston Daily Tribune, but it was discontinued after several months.

In 1908, King's customers began to complain that stocks for which they had sent him money had not been delivered. Bankruptcy followed. His liabilities were nearly $300,000 and assets less than $14,000.

A warrant for King's arrest was issued, but he disappeared. He was traced finally to Colombo, Ceylon, remained in Boston and surrendered in June, 1908.

Sentence was pronounced upon him, following a dramatic recital in which King declared he was innocent of any wrong intention. He closed by accusing Thomas W. Lawson, the Boston financier, of bringing him to financial ruin.

On his attention being called to the following statements appearing in certain afternoon newspapers (1), that the president had stated that he would recognize the Huerta administration and that it would not last a year, (2) that the president had stated that this country would establish a protective tariff over all Central American countries to guard the Panama Canal, Secretary Taft responded that there was absolutely no foundation in truth for either of the above statements and emphatically denied that the president had expressed any opinion today or at any other time regarding the Huerta administration or its stability, or stated any intention as to its recognition.

THE SUNDAY NIGHT DINNER WAS WELL ATTENDED.

It is reported that quite a number of members with their wives joined in the Sunday night dinner out at the Huaco club. The young folks also were well represented in the dinner room. Of course, this meant remaining for veranda tete a tete and the cool breeze of the club, for the evening.

WE'RE GOING BACK TO JAPAN SO FASHION TELLS US.

Whether prediction will come to pass remains to be seen. In the meantime, they are telling us that next season will find a return to the Geisha girl and the tea room for some of our smart functions. It is claimed that a hostess who is at home for an afternoon will convert her reception room into a Japanese tea garden, and will have her girls serve tea in Geisha gowns. The refreshments will be altogether Oriental, and the room represent a tea individual service of tea brewed in the cups. Individual bouquet holders, with the single stem chrysanthemum, will be upon each table. The Japanese, you know, seem more beauty in the one bloom than in the cluster. The menu will be at each table, scrawled in Japanese lettering. The Geisha girls will be veritable little Yums Yums and Patti Sings. Do you know, this all sounds rather attractive? Do you not agree?

THE MONDAY POST BAG IS FILLED WITH CARDS.

On Monday, after the accumulation of two days in the office, the post distributed messages from our home tourists, who, it seems, are covering the country, who it seems are covering the continent.

The first opened was an elaborated card. This was a copy of the Pike's Peak Daily News, under a beautifully illuminated cover of sunrise on the peak as viewed through field glasses at the base. The News is the most "elevated" publication on earth, it says. First of all, was given the list of those who had just made the ascent by the cog road, which road, by the way, is the second of its kind on this continent and also, the most "elevated." Hundreds of names were listed, and many from Texas. Almost every state in the Union was included. Of those most concerned with Waco were, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Burgess, Miss Alta Harrison, and Miss Hazel Spencer. Some verses, quite clever, were in the News. In these Poe's Raven was parodied to describe the "footpads" of the Peak. These are the adventurous tourists who prefer the exhilarating climb to the cog trip. A description of the ascent is given, also one of Helen Hunt Jackson's nature poems from Cheyenne Mountain is contained. It is recalled that this gifted writer of the West took to her faithful little burro every morning and wended her way to the mountain which gives the most charming views.

Here she wrote and here is her grave piled with stones from those who visit it and lay this nature tribute to her memory. Also there is the poetic legend of Lake Moraine. The tourist loses all the romance if she does not acquaint herself with the legendary side of Colorado. Every spot has its myth, the remains of the imagination and the life of the Indians who were Colorado's first inhabitants.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Woodson send greeting from Canada, their card bearing the Toronto post mark. Mrs. Woodson is facetious in saying her party is going "the speed limit," but are about ready to return to the protecting care of Uncle Sam.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Carver mail their card from the Allen Gardens, one of the public parks of Toronto. They refer to the beauty of Canadian cities, but are free to say these do not exceed our own in America, many of which they are now visiting. Canada is reported delightfully cool.

From Port Huron, Mich., comes the word from the Mesdames L. D. Lewis and J. N. McFarland, to tell of a very interesting and beautiful trip about the Great Lakes.

BOAT RETURNS SAFELY.

Marie Was Blown Ashore on Louisiana Coast.

Beaumont, July 21.—The sailing boat Marie, which was lost in the squall on Sabine Lake yesterday afternoon, with nine persons on board, returned safely to Port Arthur this forenoon. The boat was blown ashore on the Louisiana side and the party spent the night in the marsh.

Another party in a gasoline launch returned to Port Arthur this morning, having been driven on the Louisiana shore. In the party was C. A. Mead, of this city, formerly assistant attorney-general of Texas, and his family.

entered. Attorneys' fees in the amount and later showed signs of anger. "You don't expect me to remember complete details of conversations like that, occurring so long ago?" he asked.

"I would be very much surprised if you did," said Senator Cummins drily.

Senator Nelson reviewed the history of efforts to amend the Sherman act and said that he always had opposed such a proposal, believing that it was desired by the great interests and the trusts.

Wanted Watson in Cabinet.

Aside from Senator Nelson, Muhall's letters dealt today largely with what the National Association of Manufacturers was going to do for former Congressman James E. Watson of Indiana toward getting him a place in President Taft's cabinet and of how the association began work for a tariff commission. According to the letters, Muhall, Schwedtman and eventually President Van Cleave and others high in the councils of the association wanted Watson in the post of secretary of commerce and labor after he had been defeated for governor of Indiana.

In one letter Muhall wrote:

"If Mr. Watson is selected for the appointment of secretary of commerce and labor he will be much more powerful in the cabinet of President Taft than he would be as governor of the great state of Indiana."

In another, he said, if he (Mr. Watson) was secretary of commerce and labor it would be to uphold our splendid organization and would give us the greatest relief throughout the country that any manufacturer ever had in the history of the nation."

On January 25, 1909, D. M. Parry, one time president of the association, wrote to Muhall:

"I would personally feel just as safe with Mr. Watson in that job (secretary of commerce and labor) as for Mr. Van Cleave or myself to have the Sherman Promises Help.

Mr. Sherman was quoted by Muhall as being particularly anxious of helping Watson and promised to use all his influence with Mr. Taft to get the job. Senator Knox, who became secretary of state under Mr. Taft, was to be talked to about Watson by manufacturers and they were to make every effort to urge the appointment through committees and through members of the senate and house.

"I believe that Mr. Watson was employed by the committee of one hundred of the tariff commission, when it was created," he swore and paid a certain amount of money per week for his services while he was in Washington for that committee.

I know at that meeting here this arrangement was made; they set a price on Mr. Watson of $500 for a retained. Mr. Emery set that price by agreeing to Mr. Kirby and the rest paid $100 a week for Mr. Watson while he was here working in that work and $10,000 if he got the bill through at the end of the campaign."

"Mr. Watson at that time was not a member of congress," suggested Senator Reed.

"Yes, he was a member of congress," Martin M. Muhall, former lobbyist for the National Association of Manufacturers, continued his story before the senate investigation committee.

A letter from Thomas Gibson, a New York financial writer, from whom David Lamar testified, he got information to base his charge of an $82,000,000 forgery on the books of the Union Pacific railroad, was put in the record.

Gibson wrote he did not know Lamar, did not believe there was a forged and was sending out a retraction to his subscribers.

Paul D. Cravath, counsel for the railroad, put in a letter from firm of public accountants, explaining the apparent discrepancies upon which Lamar based his sensational charge.

The late Representative Henry C. Lounshusier of New Jersey, secretary of the republican congressional committee in 1908, seemed to have incurred Muhall's enmity. Muhall wrote to Secretary Schwedtman of the manufacturers:

"I told this gentleman that the manufacturers of this country were tired of pinhead politics and pinhead politicians."

"When I was through with Mr. Lounshusier offered an apology, claiming that he would be good from this time on but I plainly gave him to understand that when he comes up for renomination he would hear from our people."

Muhall did not fully explain why he had fallen out with Lounshusier.

Muhall wrote Muhall in one letter:

"I do hope that when James E. Watson for Indiana gets to the governor's chair, he will lay a dozen of his good friends over his knee and spank them to beat the band, including your special friend, Senator Beveridge. I hate false friends more than I do the worst enemies."

Muhall said all his accounts were kept by an expert, who accompanied him on his trips, evidently his wife.

"She was driven crazy in the Sixth New Jersey campaign," said he. "She kept all my accounts and she was the best politician I ever knew."

A Muhall expense account dated October 31, 1908, showed an item of $269 paid to Wm. M. Walsh of the executive board in the Tenth, Eleventh and Twelfth congressional districts of New York to do general campaign work."

"I think we made a good friend of Senator Dolliver and he made me promise to call on him when we come to Washington," Schwedtman wrote Muhall December 1, 1908.

Muhall wrote Schwedtman:

"We have secured in the person of George R. Malby a representative from New York, a man who fills the bill entirely in Judge Jenkins' place when he finishes his term as chairman of the judiciary committee. This has been entirely satisfactory to Mr. Emery and I think it is a splendid move."

Wm. Hughes of New Jersey, now senator; Wm. B. Wilson of Pennsylvania, now secretary of labor; Thomas D. Nichols of the Tenth, Tennessee; George A. Pear of the Sixth, Maryland, and John L. Burnett of the Se-enth, Alabama, were described by Muhall as being on the "permanent black list" as being in favor of labor legislation. "Against all these men we made every effort to drive them from public life," he said.

On another, Irving L. Lenroot and Henry Cooper of Wisconsin, Augustus P. Gardner of Massachusetts, Herbert Parsons of New York, William S. Greene of Massachusetts, Victor Murdoch of Kansas, James T. McCormick of New York, Champ Clark of Missouri, Harry L. Maynard of Virginia and Lounshusier of New Jersey.

Muhall swore the list had been furnished by Congressman Watson or by Mr. Childs, a clerk to the house committee on war claims in 1909. November 4, 1908, two days before election, Muhall wrote Schwedtman:

"Following in a list of congressmen I would advise having Mr. Van Cleave send telegrams to, who I feel sure will be elected and who have been our friends in the past."

The list included Sherman, Cannon, Burleigh, Daile, Denby, Dwight, Fairchild, Fordney, Hepburn, Kiefer, Longworth, McKinley, Malby, Mann, Moon, Moore, Parsons, Payne, Rainey and forty others.

On November 4, 1908, Mr. Schwedtman wrote Muhall:

"So far we have wired to Mr. Taft, Mr. Sherman and Mr. Cannon."

Muhall wrote Schwedtman on December 15, 1908, that he had seen Senator Foraker and that George Cox, "the Cincinnati boss," was convinced that Charles P. Taft could not be elected and that he intended to advise Taft to withdraw. Foraker seemed certain, Muhall wrote, that with aid of Cox he could win.

EXCUSES ARE OUT OF ORDER.

Says the Springfield (Mass.) Republic: "Secretary Bryan will deliver lectures before Chautauquas in the Middle West this summer. It is something quite awful, and there are papers saying so. Mr. Taft, when president was away from Washington months at a time each year, delivering speeches by the score. He holds all records—car miles, number of States visited and banquets. When Mr. Root was secretary of state he made a tour of South America, speaking at innumerable places, and during the months of his journey many things of importance to his department did happen; for example, the Cuban insurrection of 1906 and the subsequent American intervention. Secretary Knox traveled in Latin America, delivered speeches enough to fill a book, and he made also a journey to Japan. The Mexican crisis became acute while Secretary Knox was attending the Mikado's funeral. And so Secretary Bryan is not the only American secretary of state to get away from Washington on speechmaking tours. The main difference between him and his predecessors thus far is that he stays in the United States and does his talking to his own people. Those who say it is highly improper for Secretary Bryan to leave Washington and his diplomatic duties say he is not fit to be secretary of state, anyway. They ought to be glad when he goes off to Indiana and leaves the job in the competent hands of John Bassett Moore."

In the instances mentioned by the Republican in apparent excuse of Mr. Bryan's behavior was there not a tinge at least of official service? And even if there were not, do three Republican wrongs make this one Democratic right? The newspapers that are saying this Chautauqua circuiting by the secretary at a time when our relations with England, as to the canal tolls question; with Japan, as to the California alien land ownership act; with Mexico, as to the danger to our citizens and recognition of the Huerta domination; "is something quite awful," are largely Democratic newspapers, staunch Wilson newspapers, it may be emphasized. They are not seeking to justify Mr. Bryan's palpably bad break by citing the possibly equally inexcusable errors of a Republican president and two Republican secretaries of state heretofore. Indeed, they are newspapers that want to see the administration steer clear of all such unpopular doings of its predecessor. The secretary of state belongs in Washington at this time. Diplomatic or international crises, in this instance, not only might develop in his absence on personal money-making business, but staved him in the face when he left his post. Too—Taft, Root and Knox were not getting a "dollar a head." It occurs to us they were meeting the people as official representatives of this Nation.

DISAPPROVAL, NOT IGNORANCE.

It were hardly necessary to delay for two days comment on the result of the Saturday election, but election returns in Texas are so delayed, as a rule, that a fair estimate of the result of the average election seldom can follow the event closely. On these three propositions to amend the Constitution, however, the vote was so surprisingly light that the whole story was told, in returns by midnight of that very day.

We cannot agree with the opinion of those newspapers that advocated the adoption of Number 18 that the resolution was lost through ignorance of the electorate as to conditions in State institutions and the imperative need of the very improvements claimed to be predicated by adoption of the proposal to give the legislature authority to issue unlimited bonds. If ever the needs of these institutions were put before the voters of Texas, this was done by the organized advocacy of S. J. R. 18 and the mass of literature and press communications it authorized during the campaign of nearly three months succeeding the adjournment of the regular session. In many score of Texas exchanges, from larger cities and small towns, we examined during this protracted discussion in print, not one was without its quota of letters from friends and opponents of the "educational" or "bond amendment," carefully contributed by organizations. There was never any denial that the institutions are in need of many things. Indeed, opponents of Number 18 admitted this from the outset; the objection of those amongst them with better judgment was not to the plea to improve the institutions, but to transferring the bond-issuing power from people to legislature. No argument of any character on the condition of the institutions could mitigate the obvious injustice and danger of such a plan.

If there is a way for the governor and the legislature to provide funds for upbuilding the university, or any other institution, by direct legislation apart from the appropriation method, or with it, none is going to begrudge the effectuation of such a project we are very sure. It has been intimated the governor will ask this session to approve the issuance of first mortgage bonds on university property, by legislation. It is, of course, conceivable that the task of convincing our lawmakers of the merit of such a method will be none too easy. Any sort of appropriations, or expenditure by other method, has never had a wholly clear road with the Austin assembly. But we are confident that any reasonable ordering of the finances of the university that will improve and extend its physical properties and curricula will have the commendation of the State. At no time—and this, we think, should be considered final by those who represent the State at Austin—will the people be willing to relinquish the right to vote on every proposal to increase the State's bonded debt.

In the fact that as much was done to defeat these three proposed amendments by electors declining to vote as by the adverse vote cast should be convincing proof that every amendment proposed hereafter should be put on a definite, unambiguous basis. Both sides admitted there was confusion and dissatisfaction with the manner of presenting these issues; the inclusion of so many propositions in Number 18 was distinctly resented. In inception and advocacy there was more that was opaque than clear.

We could wish, however, that there had been a larger vote merely for the sake of a possibility of adopting the amendment that would abolish the fee system, and of lesser importance, the district courts system amendment—adopting these by virtue of numbers at the polls—for there was little opposition to these expressed in any public medium and we think while a larger vote would have defeated Number 18, it might have resulted favorably for the other propositions. We hope these will be submitted again.

The result of the election cannot be charged up to the people's "ignorance," by any means, as some are attempting to prove; the way the vote went and the fact that so many thousands of intelligent Texans did not vote must be taken only as a powerful rebuke of an attempt to deprive the people of an invaluable right.

Our congratulations to the new commissioners of the state insurance and banking department, Mr. W. W. Collier, of San Antonio. To express the hope that his control of this important department will be as efficient as that of his predecessor is to evidence our personal regard for Mr. Collier.

The fact that it did not occur to the authors of Chapter 103, of the last general laws, to provide Gatesville institution with a board of managers is accidentally an illustration of just how much attention the legislature has given in the past to that abused place.

"If the poor old Money Trust gets any vacation this summer it evidently won't be 'Bob' Henry's fault," titters Columbia State. The comment is valuable chiefly as indicating that the Money Trust has been heard of even in South Carolina.

Senator Cummings might as well be informed right now that his prediction of the downfall of the Democracy because of the new tariff will not be quoted by his friends to prove him a prophet, four years hence.

In the Austin manner of orthography, it may be said that the voters of Texas took the meat out of amendment.

The conviction of a lone theatre proprietor in Dallas on charges of violating the Sunday law by the "donation" plan appears to have created a sensation. And when we reflect that we live in an age of law "enforcement" so conducted that statute and injunction against it constantly are struggling together for the first fall and supremacy, the sensation over the Dallas case does not seem unwarranted, after all.

We trust the Seattle newspapers will put ill in Cotterill. Any American public official who considers he can prevent the publication of a newspaper by legitimate means had better be submitted to the alienists.

Texas Viewpoints

Whither?

"When selecting a school for your son," counsels Texas Progressive Farmer, "look well into the moral standard of the community and of the teachers. What shall it profit a boy to gain all the knowledge of the world if he lose his character while gaining it? What a wise man said centuries ago about the 'beginning of wisdom' is as true now as then." If the school is fit to send son to, the "moral standard" of the teaching staff is what it should be—that's what has made the school fit. Otherwise the school probably would be so obscure and unsuccessful that father would not be called on to consider it. Too, something depends on the vertebrae of son. As to the "moral standard of the community," the Farmer doubtless would not boycott the country's largest and best universities merely because these are situated in and near big cities some of whose performances are hardly as the driven snow. It is unfortunate all sons cannot attend theological seminaries and that such do not always flourish. But there have been many wise men, from Tacitus down to Sherlock Holmes, who did not think behavior in the country was so irreproachable, at that. No; it's 75 per cent up to son. Faculty-made morals don't count for much.

Well Informed.

Denison Herald, heaven only knows why, thinks that "woe is in the camp of the suffragettes, for an acknowledged leader in the cause has taken unto herself a mere man. Miss Inez Millholland has seen the error of her ways and has embarked on the matrimonial sea" (the Herald probably means dyke), convinced, we hope, that woman's sphere is always in the home.

At any rate, our profound admiration goes out to the plucky Dutchman who had nerve enough to marry a suffragette." The direction of the Herald's bestowal of admiration is pretty fair indication of the extent of its knowledge concerning the personality of Mrs. Boissevain. It probably would turn a mental handspring if it knew that the lady is not only beautiful and brainy, but "normal" in her view of the limitations the Herald so originally fixed for the existence of women.

Credibility Plus.

Guaranteed a literal quotation: "For once a judicial investigation has amounted to something," fanfares Cameron Herald. "Since the recent probe into the oil business in Texas gasoline has dropped four cents and the bottom may not be reached. The investigation brought to the surface the fact that Texas companies were wholesaling gasoline at 29 cents, while in other states, where it could not be delivered as cheaply, the price was 13 cents. The price to dealers in Texas is now 16 cents, and the consumers will probably be charged 20 cents instead of 25 cents as heretofore." One of the earliest of George Ade's "Fables in Slang"—years and years ago—was the romance of a poetic young thing in search of a soulmate. Her search endured many years and tackled many types and when staleness began to threaten she forgot the romance and married an apartment house janitor by the name of Ernest. Ernest had been kicked in the head by a mule when quite young and believed everything he saw in the Sunday papers. Mr. Ade believed whatever salary Ernest drew was big money—for Ernest. Surely the editor of Cameron Herald is not an Ernest!

Custon vs. Cleanliness.

Hamilton Record has heard "numerous expressions of approval concerning (its) recent suggestion to discontinue the use of the public square as a wagon yard and establish a substitute or market square on some of the numerous vacant blocks around about town. Wouldn't this be a progressive step?" It would, decidedly. Our congratulations if it is stepped. We hope Hamilton will be a fortunate exception to the dread difficulty of making city fathers believe that if custom is abrogated in favor of cleanliness the heavens will not fall.

One Aspect Sometimes Overlooked.

"Buy of the man who is your neighbor, your acquaintance, your friend," admirably advises Trinity Tribune in an exhortation to home trading. And tell the neighbor, friend and acquaintance you buy of, not to supply his wife with the details of your wife's purchases if his wife is disposed to be a wireless.

MANY PLAYS ARE FAILURES.

Only Twenty-Eight Out of 120 Produced in One Season Please N. Y.

During the New York dramatic season ending with the summer of 1912, according to Burns Mantle, there were 120 productions. Of these, he states, eighty-two were financial failures, which means a loss to their producers of about $1,250,000. Of the thirty-eight productions called successes, he further states, not more than twelve were money-making—the rest were "blowers," so called, this is, quasi-failures, nursed along by "papering" or deadheading the audiences sufficiently long to advertise the piece in the rural districts as a "Broadway success."

This leaves only twenty-eight money-making plays out of 120 productions.

The percentage in the previous New York season was about the same. During the London season ending August, 1912, fifty-four productions were made. Of these only nine were fairly successful and only four ran through the season.

This is a poor showing compared with the work of an elder playwright, as set forth in one of J. B. Lippincott company's new books, "Sardon and the Sardon Plays," by Jerome A. Hart. According to this book, Sardon, in 54 years produced 78 plays, of which only about six could be called failures, although all, of course, did not measure up to the large financial returns of his greatest successes. Although many contemporary theatrical critics rate the dramatists of today above Sardon, these figures do not seem to prove their assertion.

What Would You Do?

International Magazine.) Some time ago a man was "knocking" Andrew Carnegie for "the crazy idea of putting up all those libraries," finally for lack of something else to say. I asked him casually: "Well, what would you do if you had $60 million dumped into your lap?"

He gulped once or twice, went into a sort of trance, and finally said:

"Why, I'd—I'd—why, blamed if I know!"—and then we talked about something else.

I shall forego a detailed discussion on appropriations and revenues, for I do not wish to tax your time with a lengthy message. I shall content myself in saying on this subject that the powers concerned upon the governor's office will be used to the end that the expenses of the State will be held within her income, and put on a cash basis at the very earliest practical moment.

The revenues from ad valorem and special taxes have been ample to meet the bill on which the tax rate was based. But calamities of various kinds, especially those of disastrous fires, especially those at the Agricultural and Mechanical college, and the special appropriations by the present Legislature, will cause us to begin the next fiscal year with a deficit of about $1,000,000. Except for these extraordinary expenses we could have begun the next fiscal year with a surplus of $300,000 to $400,000. If these appropriations, general and special, by the present Legislature are held to about $6,000,000, a tax levy of 10 cents on the hundred dollars on the current year's assessments will be sufficient.

The people last fall adopted an amendment to the Constitution authorizing the levy of a tax of 5 cents on the hundred dollars to pay Confederate pensions, and at the regular session of the Thirty-second Legislature of $781,269.99—a total of general and special appropriations by the Thirty-second Legislature of $10,365,880.25.

The sums already appropriated by the present Legislature and asked of them now exceed the total appropriations by the Thirty-second Legislature by $2,212,120.13.

The ad valorem taxes collected on the assessments for the year 1911 were used in paying the bills of the Thirty-second Legislature for the fiscal year ending August 31, 1912 and 1913, and the special appropriations made by the legislature and approved amounted to $781,269.99—a total of general and special appropriations by the present Legislature will cause us to begin the next fiscal year with a deficit of about $1,000,000. Except for these extraordinary expenses we could have begun the next fiscal year with a surplus of $300,000 to $400,000. coast and froze and destroyed practically all the cane in the fields, causing a loss of fully one-half the crop. Then last year, the long drought during the summer months stunted the cane's growth and the crop was very light—didn't pay 50 cents on the $1 of the cost of its cultivation.

If the Contention is Correct,

If the advocates of "free sugar" or the admission of raw sugar into this country for refining from other countries free of tariff duty, are correct, sugar cane growing will be still less profitable when the provisions in the tariff bill now pending in congress go into effect. Sugar refineries undoubtedly will be able to import raw sugar from Cuba, the Philippine Islands and other cane growing islands under the control of foreign governments, at a much less cost to themselves. This country does not produce enough sugar for its own consumption and that which is imported now costs the refiner the purchase price in the country of its production plus the freight plus the tariff. When a tariff bill that admits the unrefined sugar, or the raw material, free of duty, is passed, the refiners will get their unrefined sugar at its cost on the producing market, plus the freight and this will undoubtedly influence the price the domestic producer will get for his product. Whatever the effect on the consumer of sugar may be (and I do not believe it will affect him favorably) it is admitted by the ablest advocates of the doctrine that the sugar producer will probably have to go out of business. One of the ablest men in congress, opening the debate on the tariff bill, referring to this question and the effect it would have upon the sugar planter, said in substance that the "provision in the bill providing for admitting unrefined sugar free of duty would not go into effect for three years and in that length of time the sugar planters would have a chance to make enough to pay their debts to the merchants and bankers before retiring from the business," which is tantamount to saying the sugar planter is now even working for the merchant and the banker. This is practically true with the Texas penitentiary system as a sugar producer. The system makes nothing and has made nothing growing sugar, under present conditions, and if they are to become worse by reason of national legislation, it is time for the State to abandon the cultivation of cane now and not wait until three years hence.

Of course, I do not suggest that these matters should be recited in amendments to the law governing the prison system of the State. But any amended law that may be passed should make ample provision for practical business management with one responsible head, and vest in that management direction to sell the lands now owned. The management already has discretion to plant or to abandon the planting of any crop that may prove unprofitable.

In view of the fact that a legislative committee has been making investigations of prison management and has received the benefit of the advice of many critics and some friends of the present law and managers, I forego a further discussion of this subject. Content with the observations for the present, with a reiteration of the recommendations made by former messengers, I sincerely ask the co-operation of the Legislature in a patriotic effort to give the people a sensible business like and practical law for the control of the prison system and its management. Respectfully submitted,

O. B. COLQUITT,
Governor of Texas.

Boy Said to Be but Nineteen Years Old—Would Transfer License.

Alleging that J. L. Sims, proprietor of the Dixie bar, corner Eighth and Mary streets, was employing her minor son in his saloon, Mrs. Maggie Smith yesterday filed complaint in the county court. Sims furnished appearance bond. The complaint alleged that Melville Smith is employed and allowed to enter and remain in the saloon. It is alleged that Smith is only 19 years of age. The law under which the complaint is made provides punishment by fine of not less than $10 nor more than $200, and imprisonment for not more than sixty days, or both.

Sims filed application in the county court yesterday for transfer of his liquor license from Eighth and Mary to 118 South Second street. The saloon formerly at 118 South Second street was recently closed by injunction.

Will Submit Motion for New Hearing in Insanity Case.

Motion for a new trial will be made by attorneys representing Sam Teeple, 74-year-old McLennan county farmer, recently adjudged insane by a jury in the county court, which recommended the appointment of a guardian to manage Teeple's affairs. COTTON FIELDS DEVASTATED

Mile Square Near Mountain Peak Suffered—Heavy Rain Creates Havoc.

Waxahachie, Tex., July 21.—In a space of country about a mile square near Mountain Peak, twelve miles west of Waxahachie, yesterday, cotton fields were completely devastated by hail. The stalks were entirely stripped of fruit and foliage. Rain at Mountain Peak almost inundated proportions of a watershed, being several inches deep on a level ground. The creek over flowed its banks. The church at Mountain Peak was badly twisted by wind just as the congregation left. Many vehicles were turned over. Trees in the vicinity were uprooted by hundreds. A residence on the farm of Hugh McAlpin was struck by lightning and entirely destroyed by fire. The Presbyterian church at Maypearl was struck twice by lightning and badly damaged.

Austin, July 21.—The Navigators' winning streak was punctured today by the Senators, who defeated Waco 5 to 4 in the last of the series and the final ball game at home before the locals start on a road trip.

The important feature of the contest was the batting of Cook. A triple from his bat in the third netted two runs and a double in the sixth and an error allowed him to get to third and score the run that proved to be the victory.

The hurler for the Navigators, Ollie Jost, started the contest and went one inning and started another before he was jerked in favor of Jack Ashton, an ex-Senator, who was batted hard for the remainder of the game. Before retiring, Jost collided with Fred Brainerd, second sacker of the Senators and perhaps put him out of the game for the rest of the season. His collar bone was broken and Jost was considerably jarred.

Waco put up a lead of one run in the second when Reilly drew a pass and Jost singled and Reilly stole third and came in on Dodd's sacrifice fly.

This lead was not of long standing, for Austin tied the score in their half after two were down. Jost walked Hille and Bobo and Haigh singled to right, scoring Hille. Jost going to the bench in favor of Ashton.

Austin took a nice long lead in the third, scoring three after one was down. Roche started by getting on on an error and James sent him to third with a double, and both runners touched the plate when Cook tripled to right. Cook scored on McIver's hit.

And back came the Navigators and scored three in the fourth and tied the score again. A single by Reilly, single by Dodd, triple by McIver and an error were responsible.

Austin won the game in the sixth on a double and two errors. Waco players questioned Howell's decisions and Tanner was fined after he struck out in the ninth, ending the game.

NEW LAW FOR MINORS

CHAIRMAN FARRELL OF NATIONAL BOARD GIVES ORDERS.

Strict Legislation Against Dodging the Draft Season—Players Must Be in Actual Service.

Auburn, N. Y., July 21.—Chairman Farrell of the National Board of Arbitration governing minor baseball today gave out the following orders relative to the sale and trading of players among major and minor leagues:

All optional agreements must be exercised on or before August 15.

The sale or the release of players within twenty days of the commencement of the major league drafting period, or within twenty days of the close of the season of the club disposing of the player, is prohibited.

The sale of a player's release by one National Association to another shall be null and void against the selection by draft of the player by a major league club from the selling club, unless he be in the actual service of the purchasing club for twenty days before the opening of the drafting season for major league clubs."

The claim of Harry Weiser of the Dallas club was not allowed by the board at its meeting today.

Baptists Celebrate Initiation Into the League With Vim

Keen interest marked the opening of the reorganized Sunday School Baseball League yesterday at Cotton Palace park.

The game was featured by heavy hitting and base running, the Seventh and James teams celebrating its initiation in the Sunday School League by defeating the Presbyterians, 12 to 12.

The winners took advantage of full bases and made their hits at the time hits counted, gaining, however, only the same number of safeties as their opponents.

Anderson of the First Presbyterians went to the mound in the opening to welcome the Baptists, who put over eleven runs the first time at bat. King replaced him at the beginning of the second and held the beginners to one run thereafter.

Marshall of the Baptists worked well at times, but offset his effective work when bases were crowded.

The attendance marked a materially increased interest on the parts of the different Sunday schools and local enthusiasts. Monday's spectators discouraged the idea of slack support to the present schedule and from all appearances some druggist or grocery will sell "throat dope."

Batteries: First Presbyterian, Marshall and Glenn; Seventh and James, Anderson, King and Clark.

Tyrus Cobb Is Not Satisfied; Wants To Leave Tigers

Boston, July 21.—Despite his $12,500 salary, Ty Cobb is dissatisfied. He would "welcome a change" which would make him a member of some team other than Detroit, he wrote to a friend in a letter which was received here today. Discussing the report that he would like very much to play in Boston, but did not think Boston would part with Speaker.

There are two other American League cities in which I would like to play," he said.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.

Texas League. Austin 5, Waco 4. Houston 2, Galveston 1. Fort Worth-Dallas played Sunday. San Antonio-Beaumont played Sunday.

National League. New York 5, St. Louis 4. Brooklyn 13, Pittsburgh 4. Philadelphia 3, Cincinnati 1. Chicago 6, Boston 2.

American League. Philadelphia 11, St. Louis 8. Detroit 6, New York 1. Washington 2, Chicago 1. Cleveland 6, Boston 1.

WHERE THEY PLAY TODAY.

Texas League. Waco at Beaumont. Dallas at San Antonio. Fort Worth at Houston. Austin at Galveston.

National League. Pittsburgh at New York. Cincinnati at Boston. St. Louis at Brooklyn. Chicago at Philadelphia.

American League. Philadelphia at St. Louis. Washington 2, Chicago 1.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Reilly is about due for notice from the scouts. He hit once out of three times up yesterday and scored two runs. He is about as consistent a player as is on the team and ranks with any catcher in the league.

Detroit was after Beck first, but delayed making a proposition until St. Louis got busy. The Tiger management then clinched the deal. Beck will stay with the Navigators until the close of the season.

Dugay injured his back slightly the last game played in Waco. He is able to play now, and did run for Rennard in the ninth yesterday, but Dodd was due a try-out and Jake was given a rest.

Manager Hardy will probably not join the club until the San Antonio series, which follows the games with the Oilers at Beaumont.

and had planned to begin in New York City on August 15 a continuation of testimony taking, which now will be dropped. In the Texas testimony the state contended the Messrs. Archbold and Folger and other Standard Oil men who now own or who had owned Magnolia stock, were so close to the Texas concern that Standard Oil interests practically controlled it, tending to raise oil prices in Texas and being a menace to continuance of competition in Texas. In reply the oil companies submitted evidence which they claimed showed the Magnolia had actually begun a campaign to enter other states to compete with Standard Oil companies.

Statement by Looney. Attorney General B. F. Looney commenting on the compromise today, said:

"The termination of this suit is very gratifying to me. I feel that it is a vindication of my department in bringing the suit and a victory for the state. It seems to me the penalty of $500,000, together with safeguards placed about the operation of the Magnolia and Corsicana Petroleum company satisfy substantially the demands of the state. It seems to me that prevention of combinations in any lines of industry is of greater benefit to the state than could possibly be large penalties in fines after the violations of law had taken place. It is better for the state in the long run to prevent crime than to punish crime. At any rate, preventing injustice is of equal regard in the law and serves equally to protect the rights of the public as does the punishment for acts of injustice or crime."

"I wish at this time also to make public acknowledgement of the able and valuable services rendered to this department and to the state by Rich and G. Maury, in connection with this litigation. I desire also to publicly demand that the Southern States Cotton Corporation might be able to deliver. This contract was accepted, duly signed by us, and certified to by the American consul."

"After the contract had been signed one of the gentlemen who is party to it stated to me that he believed when the Southern States Cotton Corporation had delivered the five hundred thousand bales of cotton, and that the world knew positively that we were able to finance the cotton in any amount there would be no necessity for any larger loans, although they would be prepared to make them; that he believed the security of cotton under the plan of the Southern States Cotton Corporation was the best collateral for loans of anything he knew."

"As a result of these negotiations I believe that the Southern people can now secure the value for their cotton and it only remains for them to sell to the corporation under the terms of the contract their cotton in any amount. If this is done in sufficient quantities to establish the price of 15 cents per pound, the cotton raisers of the South have in the future nobody to blame but themselves."

BEN F. DANIER & CO.

15th Floor Amicable Building. Phones 27.

We have for sale this week a beautiful four-room bungalow, large front porch, screened back porch, very large reception hall, beautiful mantel. This is one of the coziest little homes in West Waco, only one block from the car line, in an excellent neighborhood, and the increase in value during the next twelve months will more than cover the first payment. We can sell this beautiful home very tastily furnished throughout for small cash payment and give easy terms on balance.

TERMS—Bountiful cotton and feed crops are assured in the Bishop country by the splendid rains. Farmers who are cultivating their lands for the second and third years, are counting on a bale to the acre, if present prospects continue. The farmers who are building up this rich section are, with few exceptions, experienced Texas black land farmers, who have come from Central and North Texas, to take part in development of this territory and reap good profits from their industry.

Here they have bought land at reasonable prices, as others are doing, with SIX PER CENT INTEREST on their deferred payments, and the land is turned over to them broken ready for cultivation. Another feature. On sales made at this time, after the first cash payment is made, no other payment is to be made until November 1, 1915. After that date payments are made annually and run until November 1, 1921.

All notes are made payable "ON OR BEFORE" so that the purchaser can take them up in whole or in part, as he may be able or inclined.

It is no exaggeration or misrepresentation to say that the amount now being paid as rent by many farmers will practically take care of deferred payments on Bishop land, after the first payment is made.

The city of Bishop, only three years old, has a population approximating 2,000; it is the center of this rich black land farming section, which has been christened "THE BISHOP COUNTRY," and already has magnificent schools, a complete modern sewerage system, graded streets, cement sidewalks, a splendid hotel and more than 200 miles of good roads leading along all section lines and making the city easily accessible to the thrifty farmers who live along the roads. Bishop has an abundant and pure artesian water supply, good churches and all the advantages, even more, than are possessed by many cities of 10,000 population.

Full and reliable information about both country and city can be had by writing or calling person.

IN COTTON MARKETPRICES DEVELOP A MODERATE HEAVINESS—DECLINE OF 5 TO 12 POINTS.

Texas Crop Said to Have Been injured by Hot Weather—Boll Weevil Minimized Damage.

New York, July 21.—With a sudden drop in temperatures over the entire cotton belt on Sunday and heavy showers in parts of the South Atlantic states, the cotton market developed moderate heaviness today and closed steady at a net decline of 5 to 12 points.

The opening, which was steady and 10 to 11 points lower, reflected in some degree the weakness at Liverpool, which at the time of the local opening was about 5 to 6 points lower than due, having been influenced by the disappearance of high temperatures over the belt. Offerings were quite liberal and included a good deal of the cotton bought by local traders at the close of last week on the hot weather scare. New buying from Wall Street and Liverpool sources relieved the market of pressure and prices recovered about half of their early loss.

According to some authorities, the Texas crop has been injured by the recent dry, hot weather and fears are expressed that the heavy showers in sections of the eastern belt, following so closely on the record-breaking heat of last week, may cause shedding. This gave encouragement to local bulls and the market acted quite steady throughout midday and up to the last half hour, when selling of October, credited to spot houses, checked the improvement and produced a moderate setback.

As freely predicted on Saturday, the detailed weather reports showed a continuation of extraordinarily high temperatures in the central and eastern belts up to the close of last week, but indicated a drop of 10 to 20 points in the maximums on Sunday. Aside from scattered showers, however, there was no rain and private advice from the western belt said that crop would recover unless the dry spell was soon broken. It was admitted, nevertheless, that the dry weather had minimized the boll weevil damage and some took the view that this more than offset up to the present time any drawback that may have occurred in Texas through drought.

New Orleans. New Orleans, July 21.—Improvement in weather conditions over the belt held the cotton market down today.

While offerings were freer the short side was not aggressive and in the afternoon the market had a very steady tone on moderate buying, with the possibility of making a full recovery from the decline. This buying appeared to come from covering shorts as much as it did not from bullish traders, who were taking the long side.

The weather reports noted considerable rain over the belt and a fall in temperatures. The forecast promised more rain in the eastern belt and in the southern portions of Texas and Louisiana. The absence of general rains caused bulls to contend no material change had taken place in the crop situation. Many bales of new-crop cotton were reported at various points in Texas and rumors were to the effect that a large quantity of new cotton had been ginned at Selma, Ala. The bulls claimed that buyers were eagerly buying ahead all the cotton likely to come into sight this month. The market opened steady at a decline of 5 to 7 points on poor cables and the showing made by the weather man. In the early trading the decline was widened to 7 to 8 points on the new crops. This was the low of the day. In the afternoon prices worked up to within a couple of points of Saturday's close, and closed at a net loss of 3 to 5 points.

ROTARIANS SEE HOME FACTORIES

MAKE TRADE TRIP TO SOME CONCERN IN THE CITY.

ALL CAN DO MORE BUSINESS

Need Influence of the Waco People. Do Business Throughout the State.

Gathering first hand information relative to the manufacturing concerns of Waco, members of the Rotary Club yesterday morning visited the establishments of the Waco Trimmed Hat company, Longley Clothing Manufacturing company, J. S. Barnett, manufacturing stationers, and Paul Maaz Manufacturing company.

While but few places were visited, the Rotarians gained much information that will result in material assistance being given the owners of the four places. Owing to the fact that several of the members, who had promised the use of their cars for the trip, failed to report until the last moment, the start was not made from the Amicable building until 11 o'clock, leaving but little time for the visit, and necessarily cutting down the number of places that could be made before noon.

Waco Trimmed Hat Co.

The Waco Trimmed Hat company, in The Morning News buildings, was the first manufacturing concern visited. The Rotarians were received by G. J. Dailey, proprietor, and Mrs. Mary L. Dailey, manager, who showed them over the place.

This concern is of recent birth. It caters to the small merchants of the city, who do not employ house milliners and to the merchants throughout Central Texas. Mr. Dailey frankly admitted that competition from St. Louis and Chicago commission millinery companies had done much to cripple the business at the start, but that now many of the local merchants and a number of dry goods houses in the towns in Waco trade territory were becoming orders, and becoming steady customers.

The product put out by the company has been pronounced of high class workmanship by merchants here; one of the largest stores in town is now purchasing a portion of the output. A good retail trade is also springing up. When running at full blast the concern employs seven people.

"Ten Wheeler" Overalls.

Next upon the schedule was the Longley Clothing Manufacturing company, building in the Traction building on Franklin street. The entire upper floor is used for the manufacture of overalls—the "Ten Wheeler" in two styles, a striped suit and plain blue.

The office and the cutting room occupy the right side of the floor. In the latter, all of the garments are cut from patterns and made ready for the machines, which occupy the machinery room to the left.

There are a dozen or more machines, each is operated by a young woman, who stretches the garment. They are next counted and boxed in the shipping department. A novel feature in the machinery room is the use made of excess power. On a rod running the length of the building long sticks, Palmetto fans fixed to the ends, are fastened. The rod connects with the engines and—the sum of the problem is a fan system that produces excellent results at practically no cost. Electric fans, Mr. Longley declared, would have cost him $500, according to an electrician's estimate.

The output of the plant is 500 suits a day. The trade territory covered embraces the whole of Texas and the western part of Arkansas. With the exception of one merchant, Longley says, all Waco houses buy from his stock rooms. Trade territory is being rapidly increased. The plant is now employing fifty people.

Barnett, Manufacturing Stationer.

Leaving the Longley concern, the Rotary club members went to the commercial home of J. S. Barnett, manufacturing stationer. Barnett does a large business in blank books, stationery, and book binding. He has been in business in Waco for the past fifteen years, building up a large out-of-town trade, which reaches as far as Houston. But little attention, says Mr. Barnett, is paid to local trade.

J. B. Atkinson, assistant county attorney, spent Sunday at his home in Cameron, returning yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moorefield of Bell's Hill are entertaining Mrs. Moorefield's sister, Miss Julia Renno, and her friend, Miss Nannie Jones of Dallas.

J. C. Dillard, manager of the Waco Freight Bureau, has been appointed traffic manager for the Herrick Hardware company.

The trip made was to the picking and vinegar manufactory of Paul Maaz, 817-818 Dutton street. Mr. Maaz was not at the plant, but the visitors were shown through the works by Mrs. Maaz.

At the plant cucumbers are pickled, vinegar is bottled, and catsup, mustard and sausages are put up. Washable is also made. The factory has never been able, Mrs. Maaz declared, to secure the required quantity of pickles to reach its full capacity.

It has been urged that the truck farmer grow cucumbers for pickling purposes, but few have done so. The profit ranges from $200 to $250 an acre, while one grower, following Mr. Maaz's directions, is said to have cleared $400 an acre.

The trade territory is extended, covering the state and going outside. The greatest drawback has been inability to get enough raw material. In line with this, the Rotarians will probably probe deeper into the truck farming situation, and see what can be done to bring the farmers in line.

The trip served a double purpose: First, all possible assistance will be given to the plants; second, information was gained about important industries in Waco, of which several of the trippers were entirely ignorant. In the near future the remaining manufacturers of the town will be visited, and then the club will take steps to aid in their upbuilding and to increase the dinner bucket brigade.

The following made the trip: Henry Bell, C. H. Cox, Abe Gross, C. G. Sneed, Frank Burkhardt, H. E. Furman, J. M. Clement, Dinsmore W. Hume, E. H. Reed, H. L. Henry, W. V. Crawford, Dick Smith, Sam Knight.

Called meeting of Waco Lodge No. 92, A. F. & A. M., will be held at the Masonic Grand Temple at 7:45 tonight. Work in the F. C. and Master's degrees. All visiting brethren invited.

OLIVE JENKINS, W. M. E. C. STREET, Secretary.

Will Take Motion Pictures of Crowds; Fair Opens Today

Wacoans 150 Strong Will Visit "Carlsbad" on Special Train—Program of Annual Event is Alive With Snapping Features.

It may look a bit canny to go to a movie show and as you sit in the audience will step out on the scene—mouth agape at the attractions of the Falls county fair at Marlin—but the visitors to the "Carlsbad of Texas" today will have this experience.

Long reels of pictures to be shown later in the movie houses of the country will be clicked off at the Marlin fair this afternoon. It has been made one of the features of the celebration.

Today at Marlin will be observed as Waco day. This is the first day of the fair and the privileges of the city will be thrown full wide to Wacoans. A special train over the International and Great Northern has been engaged by the fair committee of the Cotton Palace and more than 150 live boosters of the Central Texas metropolis will go to Marlin today.

The special leaves the International and Great Northern depot at 12:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Ticket selling committee of the Palace have been on the street the greater part of last week and this, and a number have pledged themselves to attend the fair. But President W. H. Hoffman desires even a larger crowd and all who can make the trip are given special invitations to be at the train.

The delegation from here will be a live one and much will be added to the fun at "Carlsbad," the name that Marlin is now flaunting to the world at large.

Now will the Marlinites fall behind in making the visit a round of pleasure.

Perhaps there is no fair of its size in the state that equals the Falls county annual celebration. And the attractions this year have been doubled. The amusements are more attractive than ever and the features of the fair are interest compelling events.

Exhibits of the different departments have been gathered from half a dozen counties and great pains has been taken in selection and arrangement.

The horse races will prove a drawing card. Because of the larger premiums offered, the entries have forced to the ranks of first class. The other attractions will be in proportion.

The excursionists will return to the city about 6 o'clock.
